Summary

The Royal College of Music Museum is home to an inspiring collection of musical objects and paintings.

Using objects from our collection, we aim to support secondary pupils' contextual understanding of Western Classical Music. Each of the objects and stories chosen helps to reinforce learning about:

- the sounds and stylistic features of periods of music history
- the growth and development of the orchestra
- composition and performance contexts

In particular, we hope these materials are useful extra resources for pupils who are studying these modules with the following exam boards.

AQA Western Classical Music 1650 – 1910

Edexcel Instrumental Music 1700 – 1820

OCR Area of Study 2: The Concerto Through Time
